Peterson Takes Issue With Jurors

County Executive Frederick Peterson Tuesday took issue with the grand jury and termed the jurors' report on Canyon Sanatorium as "confusing and contradictory."

Peterson, who has opposed the county-owned tuberculosis project since its acquisition in 1941, summed up his one-page criticism of the grand jury by declaring:

"As I see it, the only thing accomplished by the grand jury committees so far, has been to give San Mateo County a great deal of publicity, none of which would hardly be conducive to encourage people to bring their families to San Mateo County, which has always been known and advertised as the 'County of Homes'."

Confusing to Peterson was the grand jurors' statement that purchase of the institution for $35,000 was "advisable from a financial standpoint."

"It (the report) then goes on to enumerate its many inadequacies," Peterson said.

"What I failed to find in the report, conveniently or otherwise overlooked, was information given to me by the committee to the effect that the county has already spent as of June 30 this year, approximately $60,000 for improvements and alterations and that an additional $23,000 is allowed in the 1945-46 budget."

Continuing, he said, "This brings the current cost of the Canyon Sanatorium up to around $118,000 and if the county should spend say another $100,000 for improvements, we would still have an institution compromised of a group of 30- to 40-year-old wooden cabins."

The $60,000, which has been spent since the county purchased the property, does not include any operating expenses, he pointed out.

Dr. Charles C. Gans, director of the San Mateo County Dept. of Public Health and Welfare, meanwhile today nodded his approval of the grand jury report and said, "I agree with them."

The public health and welfare committee of the grand jury made public its report yesterday and placed its approval on the county's purchase of the institution.

However, the committee declared, the county should undertake enlarging and modernizing, warning that "until county officials are willing to provide proper facilities for the care of tubercular persons, no start can be made in eradicating tuberculosis and every resident of the county is a prospective victim of this terrible scourge."

Burlingame Woman Leaves $60,112 Estate

Mrs. Nelle A. McCarthy, Burlingame woman who died May 19, 1945, left an estate valued at $60,112.57, according to an appraisal of James A. Lee filed in superior court here Monday.

The estate consists of furniture and personal property in her home at 341 Occidental Ave., Burlingame, cash, stocks and bonds and real property.

Her widower, Edward W. McCarthy, is executor of the holographic will.

In an appraisal of the estate of the late Lizzie D. Carr, San Mateo County resident who died Apr. 13, 1945, Appraiser Bradford M. Melvin listed real property in Belmont and Daly City and cash valuing $35,284.49.

'Diaper Gang' Held For Mail Box Thefts In Woodside District

Roundup of a gang of small children responsible for recent mail box thefts and mail box fires in the Woodside district was disclosed by Sheriff James J. McGrath, with the transfer to juvenile authorities of four Woodside grammar school students.

The children, all aged from 6 to 8 years, were admittedly guilty of robbing residents' mail boxes of money, burying letters which did not contain financial loot, and setting fire to several rural route postoffice boxes.

Dep. Sheriff Milton Minehan, who investigated after complaints of Woodside residents had been turned over to Sheriff McGrath by Postmaster Robert E. O'Connell Jr., declared he was surprised such a "diaper gang" could have created so much havoc.

First complaints came when mail expected from service men failed to arrive as expected for residents of Woodside Further complaints arose when several residents reported their mail boxes had been damaged by fires, obviously set deliberately.

"First impressions," Minehan admitted today, "indicated a gang was at work. But you can imagine our surprise when we learned the culprits were from 6 to 8 years old." Four children, all boys, he said, have already admitted complicity. He said two or three more will be implicated.

Chief complaints, Minehan said, came from W. H. Lowe, and Burt Sallas, both residing on Albion Ave., Woodside. Several other complaints however, followed.

"The kids admitted quickly enough they had taken the letters from mail boxes along Woodside streets and roads," Minehan said. "They'd open the letters—they did find small amounts of money of which we know—and then bury the opened mail. Apparently, in two or three instances, their anger at not finding any money in letters led them to stuff the opened mail back in the opened mail back in the postboxes and deliberately set fire to the box.

The estimated total monetary loot at less than $5. "There's no telling, however, what valuable personal mail, legal papers, and such things, will be lost as a result of their activity," he declared. Some few letters, he said, have been disinterred and turned over to the rightful addressees.

Conference with Sheriff McGrath, Minehan said, decided him to lay the whole affair in the juvenile authorities' lap. Postal authorities, because the mail had already been delivered to rural route box-holders, declined to enter prosecution, he said.

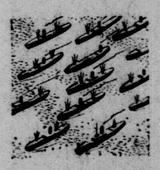
"What I like about the WAR CHEST" says a war veteran

"When a fellow has been away from home, especially in the dictator countries, you sure appreciate the American way of doing things. "That's what I like about the Community War Chest... it's American and democratic because nobody's forced to give. You just give because you feel like giving. And it makes you feel good to see money being used to do good. Even though we're all mighty happy that the war is over now, we musn't forget that THE WAR ON WANT IS NOT YET WON. There's still a big job to be done with War Chest dollars."

"It's sure tough to see how kids in foreign countries have been hit by war. Now they seem bewildered and lost in Peace. It is good to see how America goes on helping them and that America has the spirit to continue helping them.



"Think of the young seamen in the Merchant Marine or the older hands working a Liberty ship across the Pacific. Their job will go on long after the last gun was fired, carrying supplies to hundreds of island outposts and bringing my buddies home again. When these men hit shore, in any one of 94 ports, they are sure glad to find a decent, clean American club of their own, run by the United Seamen's Service. War Chest dollars put them there.

"Ever been homeless? There are millions of fine people destitute and homeless throughout Europe and the Philippines and China. Homes have been destroyed and families separated. There is a long, long job ahead in resettlement. Your War Chest dollars are needed to help them.

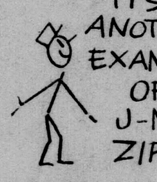
J-M's New Research Center

"Research" is just a highbrow word to most folks.

It sounds up in the clouds. It sounds like professors in white coats playing with microscopes and test tubes.

What do THOSE dreamers know about down-to-earth things like JOBS?



Well, the answer is that at Johns-Manville half of all the jobs during the 10 years before the war were jobs on products which were largely the result of research.

Research at J-M (and in many other companies) is a real job-producer.

That's why, right now, to a nation interested in jobs, and in communities like this where J-M plants are located, the news that J-M is building a new, giant research center on a 93-acre plot near Manville, New Jersey, is mighty important news.

To Hatch Thousands of Jobs

This new research center, and J-M's new postwar $40,000,000 expansion program of which it is a part, are expected to provide at least 25 per cent more J-M jobs than J-M ever had to offer in its best pre-war year.

In this center—which will eventually have 337,000 square feet of floor space—scientists will originate and improve materials for building better American homes and industrial plants. And they will originate and improve many products to serve industry in countless ways—such as insulating materials to conserve heat and harness power.

10 Experimental Factories

Included in the center will be ten experimental factories under one roof, so that new and improved manufacturing methods can be worked out at the same time that new and improved products are developed.

Products will be given intensive tests; for example, an entire roof or side wall of J-M materials will be given 20 years of weather changes in six months of punishment.

* * * *

J-M's big new research center will mean new and better products for the great building era on which America is about to enter—and it will be the incubator for many good jobs right here in this community.

County To Receive $230,694 for Roads

Announcement that $230,694 in federal and state funds would be available to San Mateo County for a three-year improvement program for "farm-to-market" roads was received by County Engineer M. A. Grant Tuesday.

Work, which will include alignments and improvements of county secondary roads, has been planned for some time, but was designated as a postwar project, with allocation of the state and federal funds undetermined until Grant received confirmation today.

Of the total available, $122,349 will come from the federal government and $108,345 from the state, Grant was informed.

The sum of $43,783, or one-third of the total, will be available the first year, he said.

Slated for the improvement work are Canada Rd., Poor Farm Rd., Pescadero Rd., Whipple Rd., La Honda Rd., Whisky Hill Rd., Sand Hill Rd., Sand Hill Extension and Portola and Alpine Rds.

Engineers in Grant's office today said they did not know when construction work would begin, but that it may be delayed for a year.

Pay Up or Else, Demands McNutt

Cletus Esser's contention that "mother-in-law" trouble caused his divorce and his ex-wife's new contempt of court proceedings before Superior Judge Maxwell McNutt here, Monday received short shrift before the judge after Mrs. Ruth M. Esser of San Bruno testified.

Esser, ordered to show cause why he should not be held in contempt for failing to pay $50 monthly for his wife and support of their two minor children, claimed he had almost effected a reconciliation, but that his mother-in-law broke it up.

Mrs. Esser testified, however, that he had failed to make more than three payments since the interlocutory decree was granted last January, had taken another woman to Seattle and had sold Mrs. Esser's washing machine and lawn mower, keeping the money. She also claimed Esser had been charged with assault as a result of a threat to kill her if she did not take him back.

Five Persons Suffer Injuries In North County Collision

Five persons suffered injuries in a two-car collision on Skyline Blvd. just north of Alemany intersection shortly before dawn Tuesday.

California Highway Patrolmen, who investigated, said the crash involved the only two cars on the highway at the time. Most seriously injured was Frank Neves, 22, pharmacist's mate third class of U. S. Navy Receiving Hospital, Geneva Ave., San Francisco. After emergency treatment at Alemany Hospital, he was taken to Treasure Island. Attendants said he possibly suffered a skull fracture.

Riding with Neves, and only superficially injured, was Pauline Marvell, 19, 4607 Linden Way, San Francisco, as was Alex Magnan, 19, also of the navy receiving hospital. Driver of the other machine was Don S. Macauley, 22, 450 Scott St., San Francisco. He and a companion, Granville Forrest, 23, 946 Oak St., San Francisco, suffered minor cuts and bruises. CHP officers Roy Edwards and John Couch investigated.

Two motorists escaped unhurt when their autos collided at Britan and Cordilleras Rd., San Carlos, last night. Alta Mae Langbehn of 5 Park Lane, Redwood City, and Gaylord Ransom, Devonshire Blvd., San Carlos, were questioned by Patrolman Frank Lucero after the crash.

Mrs. Eleanor Hiatt and Mrs. Bernice Grimm, both of Menlo Park, were injured yesterday when the car driven by Mrs. Grimm collided with one driven by Charles Gifford, Stanford medical student, on the university campus. Clifford suffered concussion.

Subsisting on berries and roots for nearly a week, Louis Ash of Redwood City was back in civilization today following a harrowing experience of being lost in the Southern Oregon mountains.

Ash, 45, was taking a walk from the Leona Koff ranch on the Little River last Wednesday when he became lost in the forest. He resides at 235 Hopkins Ave. and had evidently gone to Oregon on a pleasure trip.

Dust from burned-out meteors sifts constantly to the earth, adding slowly but surely to its bulk.

One hundred tons of pulpwood yield less than 30 tons of pulp.

This laugh's on you—and worth it!

SOMEWHERE in the South Pacific, American boys are getting a laugh. A much-needed laugh that helps their morale. A laugh your money helps to buy—when you give to your Community War Fund.

For part of every dollar you give goes to the U.S.O. and helps send the U.S.O. camp shows overseas. And, with the millions of men now idle in occupied territories, the need to keep up their morale is greater than ever. That's why the army has asked the U.S.O. to quadruple its activities. And why your money is needed to help bring to some lonely G.I. a touch of home—the familiar face of Joe E. Brown—the friendly voice of Frances Langford—the dancing feet of Fred Astaire.

Another part of your money is spent right here at home, to help servicemen's families keep living decently, united in happiness and health. Still another part helps cheer our merchant seamen in distant ports of the world. And it helps relieve hunger and sickness and suffering among our fighting allies.

This is a great united cause. And because the needs are so many and so great, give generously—give more than you gave last year. Make your gift as big as your heart.

Earmark $1,466,000 For Three Overpass Freeway Structures

Nearly one and a half million dollars was allocated San Mateo County for work on the Bayshore Freeway as the State Highway Commission, acting on request of Governor Warren, Monday launched its $115,000,000 postwar highway construction program.

The money, allocated for three separated grades in the northern part of the county, was part of a $47,927,000 appropriation to designated projects throughout the state.

Dist. Engineer Ed Poss of the highway commission today said his San Francisco office had not received confirmation of the allocation, but that he presumed work on the structures would get under way in another year.

Projects specified include structures over Southern Pacific tracks and Grand Ave., South San Francisco, $957,000; Butler Rd., South San Francisco, $79,000; Bayshore Hwy. at Peninsular Blvd., San Mateo, $430,000.

The structures, first to be specified in the multi-million dollar freeway project, are known as "separated grades," Poss explained, and are built to permit through traffic without crossings.

Poss, who said it was impossible to estimate the period of time necessary to complete the superhighway between San Francisco and San Jose, pointed out acquisition of rights-of-way in downtown San Francisco (northern terminus of the freeway is planned for the Bay Bridge approach at Fifth St.) has been slow.

Other delays in constructing the freeway will be encountered in financing the entire project, he said.

The proposed freeway, which will approximate the present Bayshore Hwy., is to be rerouted west of Mills Field if passage of the $20,000,000 airport bond issue in San Francisco permits expansion of the field's facilities.

The bond issue includes money to share cost of the rerouting, Poss said.

Santa Clara County received a $2,525,000 allocation from the funds for grading, paving and erection of structures from Ford Rd. to Santa Clara St., part of the freeway as it extends past San Jose.

Missing Chinese Found Drowned

Body of Warren Wong, 22-year-old San Francisco Chinese missing since Thursday, was discovered under Pan-American Airways terminal pier on San Francisco Bay north of Mills Field Saturday.

Wong's auto, discovered on the pier Thursday afternoon, led deputies of Sheriff James J. McGrath to drag the bay area adjacent in a vain attempt to recover the body earlier. Wong's sister, Mrs. Ah Sin of San Francisco, had advised police and sheriff's officers her brother left home early Thursday in his auto, carrying a vial of sleeping pills.

Wong's body was discovered Saturday by Harry Matthews, airlines employe. Chief Dep. Sheriff Walter Moore recovered the body and ordered an autopsy tomorrow at Nieri Funeral Home, South San Francisco. Dr. Stuart Lindsay will perform the autopsy. Moore said he believed Wong had drowned, since the body had sunk to the bay floor. Wong's sister had told police earlier she feared her brother might attempt to end his life.

Thomas Edison was a pioneer in the use of electricity for traction.

Platoon Set For Group 17 to 20

A special platoon for men in the 17 to 20-year-old brackets has been ordered for the California State Guard by 1st Lt. Gordon C. Dickerson, commander of the Redwood City company. This young man's detachment will drill separately under a special training officer and will be given the opportunity of developing its own commission officer cadre from within its own ranks as rapidly as possible.

Veterans from this last war nor men from the World War I will not be mixed in with these younger men, once the platoon is activated.

Transportation to and from the Belmont Armory is free to all interested. A two and one-half ton four-wheel drive truck will pick up passengers on the following schedule every Wednesday or Friday: Menlo Park Police Station, 7:15; Five Points, 7:30; Redwood City Courthouse, 7:40; San Carlos Depot, 7:50.

Additional information may be obtained evenings from Lieutenant Dickerson, 401 Park Ave. Phone RC 517-J.

Grand Jurors Stamp OK On Sanatorium

Making public its much heralded report on Caynon Sanatorium, the San Mateo County Grand Jury's public health committee has placed its stamp of approval on the county's purchase of the sanatorium in 1941, but recommended that the institution be enlarged and modernized.

The report indirectly criticizes county officials for failing "to raise the standards" of the sanatorium, "to that level recognized by medical authorities as necessary for such an institution."

The grand jury committee's investigation "reveals an inadequacy of up-to-date facilities and the existence of outmoded and antiquated conditions not conducive to proper care of persons afflicted with tuberculosis," the report declares.

The jurors concluded that "it is quite apparent that the purchase of Canyon Sanatorium was most advisable from a financial viewpoint," according to the report which points out that it was purchased for $35,000 while a new hospital of roughly equal capacity would have cost approximately $150,000 according to 1941 estimates.

The report criticizes poor segregation of male and female patients, and declares that due to the close proximity of cabins occupied by men and women patients, "it is almost impossible for the sanatorium staff to control the morals of these patients."

According to the reports, "the most difficult problem which appears to confront the personnel of the institution is the lack of space in which to carry on their duties and the inadequacy of facilities in rendering proper treatment to patients housed in the main building."

Warning against delay in improving facilities at the sanatorium, the jury's report asserts that "until county officials are willing to provide proper facilities for the care of tubercular persons, no start can be made in eradicating tuberculosis and every resident of the county is a prospective victim of this terrible scourge."

The report cites these specific findings:

The 27 cabins housing patients are located from 50 to 150 feet from the main building, making proper supervision and care of patients housed in the cabins impossible.

Only dirt pathways connect the main building and the cabins. Meals must be carried on trays to the cabins three times a day "irrespective of dust, dirt or rain."

The institution's central heating plant "barely cares for present needs" and will not suffice when the number of patients increases, as is anticipated because of the county's population growth. Radiators in the cabins are so poorly placed that most of the heat is lost.

The main building "appears to be in good condition" from the standpoint of construction.

Eighteen patients housed in this building are served only by two toilets and one bathtub.

The resident physician's office in the main building is "extremely small" and though "designated as an office, more nearly resembles a railroad station. A private conference with the physician is impossible. Employes and patients are continually walking through the office."

Facilities in the main building for the treatment of patients are "most undesirable." One room is used for all surgery, although a second operating room is badly needed. Sterilization of instruments and wrapping of bandages and laboratory tests must all be done in this one room.

Further space for surgical supplies is "most inadequate."

No facilities are provided for dental care of patients, who must leave the sanatorium to have dental work done.

Occupational therapy facilities are "unheard of."

It is estimated that 70 per cent of the Estonians make their living by farming and dairying.

San Mateo Host to State Meet of County Employes

San Mateo County will be host to nearly 100 delegates from California counties next month when representatives of the League of County Employes Assns. will meet for their annual convention.

Maurice Donovan, president of the San Mateo County Employes Assn., Wednesday disclosed plans for the convention, first of the California league meetings to be held here, on Oct. 12, 13 and 14.

Principal events have been scheduled for San Mateo where a luncheon has been set for noon Saturday, Oct. 13.

A banquet and ball for Saturday night at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel will highlight the three-day meeting, he said. Newly elected officers will be installed at that time.

Beach Vasey, secretary to Governor Warren, will be one of two main speakers to address the delegates and their guests Saturday night, Donovan said.

Special guests invited to attend will include Judge Harold J. Jacobi of the Contra Costa Superior Court, Assemblyman Harrison W. Call, and State Senator Harry Parkman. San Mateo Chamber of Commerce President Dan O'Connell and Mayor Claude Hirschey have also been invited to attend.

The convention will open with sessions Friday night, and meetings to discuss various phases of county employeship have been scheduled for all day Saturday.

The executive committee of the league will probably meet Sunday morning to conclude the convention, Donovan declared.

Topics for discussion for league delegates will include committee reports, retirement funds and job securities.

The league, which has a membership approximating 38,000 persons, is headed by J. Arthur Anderson of Orange County. Ernest S. Wooster, also of Orange County, is secretary-treasurer.

Officers of the host association are William Schade, vice president; Helen Van Winkle, secretary, and William Wilkin, treasurer.

Road Equipment Stolen in S.M.

Should you find a trailer-load of road-building machinery parked by the side of the road, notify Sheriff J. J. McGrath.

The sheriff has already sent an all-points teletype for William Fairley of E. J. Haas Construction Co., 430 Peninsula Ave., San Mateo, asking trace of $3300 worth of such equipment which disappeared on its trailer from a road construction job on Railroad Ave., between Hermosa and Silva Sts., San Mateo, Monday night.

Fairley advised Dep. Sheriff E. F. Cerqui this morning the equipment was stolen after the finish of yesterday's work. Included in the missing equipment are an air compressor, pneumatic spaders, pavement breakers and a jack hammer.

Three Receive Navy Discharges

Three navy personnel from this area have received honorable discharges under the point system, the 12th Naval District announced today.

They are Lt. Comdr. William B. Randall and Electrician's Mate first class Charles G. Adams Jr., both of San Carlos, and Lt. William E. Anderson Jr. of East Palo Alto.

Commander Randall, stationed on Guam for the past year, was called to San Carlos several months ago by the illness of his late sister, Mrs. William Kelly. He has been living at the Kelly home, 219 Sycamore Ave. In the navy four years, Randall is now visiting in Reno where he plans to make his home with his wife and daughter.

Adams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams Sr. of 616 Cedar St. He has been residing with his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gover since his return from the Aleutians, Sept. 1. In the service three and a half years, Adams returned from the South Pacific in March, 1944, and was married to the former Betty Gover.

He is a graduate of San Mateo High School and was formerly employed by the Bell Telephone Co. His immediate plans are "just to rest."

Anderson's parents reside at 364 Willow Rd., East Palo Alto.

Butler Presents Awards To Plant Employes Here

At a ceremony at the S & W lunchroom Friday afternoon Chamber of Commerce Mgr. E. W. (Ned) Butler presented awards to Irvin Rinaldi and Vincent Cruz. This recognition was for their assistance in soliciting help during the war days when employes were difficult to obtain. In a contest conducted by the organization, Rinaldi and Cruz topped the list.

Ensign Don Burke Awaits Orders

Having received his ensign's commission at Harvard University, Don Burke of Menlo Park is home on leave waiting naval orders. He expects to be assigned as a supply and disbursing officer on a destroyer.

The 19-year-old officer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burke of 1020 Del Norte Ave. A graduate of Sequoia High School with the class of '43, he attended Stanford University for one semester prior to entering the V-12 program at the University of California.

Senior class president at Sequoia, Burke was stationed at University of California 16 months prior to being sent to Bayonne, N. J. for preliminary training before entering Harvard. His sister, Janice is living with her parents until her husband, Chief Pharmacist's Mate Erwin Allison returns from the Pacific. They have a 5-month-old son, James Burke Allison. Janice, a former WAVE, is also a graduate of Sequoia.

Cavallero Trial Begins Oct. 23

Trial of Frank A. Cavallero, 44, San Francisco, on manslaughter charges as a result of the death last June of California Highway Patrolman James B. Dalziel, will open Oct. 23 before Superior Judge Aylett R. Cotton here. Cavallero pleaded not guilty Monday after his attorney's motion to set aside the information was denied by the court.

Cavallero was charged on complaint of CHP Officer John Couch, who asserted Dalziel was killed almost instantly on Bayshore Hwy. near Brisbane when his cycle crashed into Cavallero's car as the latter attempted a U-turn.

Chamber Launches Program To Improve Store Windows

The Redwood City Chamber of Commerce Monday night launched a program to improve store fronts and merchandising to retain a larger percentage of the Redwood City consumer's dollar in Redwood City.

Directors of the chamber, city councilmen, city planners, a few merchants and service club representatives heard Dr. Frank E. Cox, field co-ordinator for the Bureau of Business Education, State Dept. of Education, outline a plan for a six-week course in merchandising offered through the public schools.

He said it would be necessary to sign up at least 60 business men to assure the high school of sufficient additional average daily attendance to finance the course.

Topics would include not only store front modernization, but sales planning, modern lighting and display, modernization of interiors, modern equipment, customer satisfaction and community planning.

Dr. Cox warned that the challenge of the future is to sell one-third more merchandise than was sold in 1939 to maintain full employment.

He pointed out that the life of the average store front and its interior fixtures is 10 to 15 years, and that since little remodeling has been done in the last six, most are two-thirds obsolete.

E. W. Butler, manager of the chamber, said an effort would be made to conduct the course here after Jan. 1, provided a sufficient enrollemnt is assured at the merchants' section dinner Oct. 16.

Mayor W. W. Hilton, himself a merchant, predicted the program would fail for lack of interest on the part of the merchants themselves. He pointed out that only a half-dozen merchants attended last night's meeting.

"The average business man doesn't care about his own business," he declared.

Bert Conroy, chamber director, defended the business community on the basis that many merchants are confronted with help shortages which make attendance at meetings difficult.

Dr. Cox was accompanied by Robert F. Kurrle, special supervisor of distributive education, and Hughes M. Blowers, regional supervisor of business education, both of the state department. All three state representatives conferred with A. C. Argo, superintendent of Sequoia Union High School, on details of the proposed business management course.

T/5 Bertram Gelb Earns Discharge

After three and a half years overseas, T/5 Bertram Gelb has returned to receive an honorable discharge from the U. S. Army. Gelb, brother of Sidney Gelb of 703 Vista Dr., Emerald Lake, served on Guadalcanal, Hawaiian and Philippine islands.

The 25-year-old soldier will visit with his brother for a week and then return to Chicago to see his mother. Corporal Gelb expects to be employed by the civil service printing bureau in Chicago.

His twin brother, PFC Leonard Gelb, has been overseas a year and is now stationed in Vienna. Corporal Gelb holds the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with three Bronze Stars, the American Defense and Philippine Liberation ribbons and the Good Conduct Medal. He also played the trumpet in an army band while in the service nearly four years.

The oldest stone arch bridge in the U. S. was one built in 1809 near Frederick, Md.

Quarryman May Build Tramway to Highways

Construction of an overhead tramway over the "hump" between Rockaway Beach and Skyline Blvd. at Sneath Ln., has been suggested as Ken F. Royce's plan if County Planning Commission members will approve a petition for his establishment of gravel, sand and rock stockpiles at Rockaway Beach, just off Coast Hwy., and on old county road, at Skyline Blvd. and Sneath Ln.

Royce, whose application received first hearing at Friday's commission meeting, declared his present quarry piles are too far distant from highway access to permit competition with neighboring quarries. Frank Skillman, commission secretary, declared the commission will visit the proposed sites and consult further on Royce's tramway plan before making any decision.

War contracts affecting more than 160,000 prison inmates in 100 state prisons are being filled.

Veterans' Council Drafts Plans

William Galloway, temporary chairman of the Redwood City Veterans Affairs Council, and his organization committee Monday night drafted the final organization plan to be submitted Friday night to the council membership.

The committee planned immediate publication of a pamphlet listing various services available to veterans in Redwood City, but stressed the fact that this would comprise a minor part of the council's activities.

Galloway suggested special committees to finance temporary aid to stranded veterans; a committee to help solve veterans' housing problems, and another to spur employment.

The committee will endeavor to make the services of the council available through the county veterans service officer, the United States Employment Service and the Red Cross, it was announced.

The firm, to operate in San Mateo, was formed by Theodore J. Davie, 332 N. San Antonio, Ross A. Foreman, 214 6th Ave., both of San Mateo, and Willard P. Stratton, 7 Fairway, Belmont. Fifty thousand shares with a par value of $1 each, were authorized.

Firemen Extinguish Grass Fire Here

Redwood City firemen extinguished a small fire Sunday afternoon in the parking strip adjoining Sequoia Laundry on Perry St. before serious damage could be done. Chief Mark E. Ryan said rubbish and grass in the parking lot had apparently caught fire.

County Forest Service equipment responded to an alarm Sunday night involving a small blaze on a rubbish dump west of San Bruno. No damage resulted from the fire, County Fire Warden Bert Werder reported.

Belmont Group Investigates War Memorial Center Site

Action on the purchase of the former Belle Monti clubhouse at Belmont as a War Memorial Community Center was promised Monday by Mayor J. F. Furlong Jr., as he appointed a committee to investigate the purchase during the city council meeting.

"Let's not wait, let's do it now," Mayor Furlong told the committee after advising them to come back in two weeks with the information. His move was received with applause by interested citizens who filled in the council chambers.

He named Wellman H. Topham, general chairman and co-ordinator; James Ross, secretary; Lloyd Taft, chairman of option and finance; A. B. Denny, repairs and alterations; J. W. Brooks, furnishings, and Larry Sims, organization and revenue.

Councilman Francis Kilkeary, during the discussion, warned that the people of Belmont must be realistic and "think of 'musts' first." These included, he said, a sewage disposal plant which will cost "plenty" of money, and a new school. This did not mean "I do not consider a youth center important and as a matter of fact I had heard nothing but Belle Monti clubhouse for the past weeks around home."

He pointed out, however, that this clubhouse property had been offered to the city in the past for less than the $25,000 figure quoted at present and that a recent city ordinance made it impossible for a "school for backward children" which "almost sneaked in there" to ever do so again. In other words, he suggested that those who were to negotiate for the property remember "that we are not a dispossessed family that has to have a shelter over our heads."

Councilman Bether S. Walden in commenting on the motion said it seemed that when such a representative group appeared with this petition it was a mandate on the council.

Topham, representing the Belmont Civic Assn., backers of this movement, presented the arguments in favor of acquiring this property of 2½ acres situated, he said, in the geographical center of of town. He described the large building with beamed ceiling hall and large adjoining rooms; the third floor with eight bedrooms and baths, and the ground floor with dressing rooms and showers. He pointed out the swimming pool and wading pool and an adjacent 6½ acres of available land suitable for picnicking and camping.

An employment agency in the city hall using volunteer help was set up last night by the city council after one councilman had described conditions in Belmont as "health, very good; welfare not so good." He argued there was considerable unemployment which included returned veterans and contended there were enough large industries as well as smaller concerns in the community to take care of these people. The mayor concurred in the idea, saying "we can only do some great good by establishing such a service, and I'm sure there will be volunteer workers."

Decided also was the matter of placing a part-time police officer to help with the lights at Ralston Ave. and El Camino Real Saturday afternoon and Sundays. "As it is now," Kilkeary said, "you're taking your life in your hands to try to cross El Camino over the weekend."

City Clerk Catherine Heartsner reported $61,000 in building permits since last meeting.

A full board was present last night: Mayor Furlong, and Councilmen Kilkeary, Walden, Morrison and C. G. Schoof.

Survey Stamps Redwood City A Quality Market

Food sales, long considered a major index of a city's standard of living, mark Redwood City as a high quality market, with a scale above that of most other communities in the country. This is brought out vividly by a comparison of data contained in the current Sales Management survey.

Money spent in Redwood City for food last year—in groceries, meat markets, delicatessens and the like, exclusive of eating and drinking places—came to $4,329,000, or $259 for each man, woman and child. The rest of the country spent only $147 per capita on the average for food, while California spent $201 and the Pacific states $204, per person.

The volume of food sales in Redwood City represents an increase of 94 per cent from the prewar year of 1940. In the same period the national increase amounted to only 84 per cent.

In the three other principal retail categories investigated, Redwood City also scored greater gains than did other cities. General merchandise sales increased 100 per cent, as compared with a national rise of 92 per cent. The lumber-building-hardware business grew 31 per cent as against 30 per cent elsewhere, and drug store sales advanced 100 per cent in the period, compared with 83 per cent nationally.

R. W. Golley Arrives Home

First Lt. Robert W. Golley of Redwood City has arrived home on a 30-day leave from the European Theater after serving six months in England, France, Belgium, Holland and Germany with the 67th Reconnaissance Group, veteran Ninth Air Force photographic outfit.

The outfit flew more than 600 missions during six European campaigns and won the Presidential Unit Citation. Golley has been awarded six battle stars on his European theater ribbon. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Golley of 1446 Hopkins Ave.

A graduate of Sequoia High School and Menlo Junior College, Golley attended Stanford for one year prior to entering the army in February, 1943. He will report to Tampla, Fla., at the conclusion of his leave.

Lieutenant Golley has two brothers; Guy Golley is a shipfitter third class with the Seabees stationed on Guam and Dick Golley is a senior at Sequoia.

Dibble Receives $1000 For Blind Treatment

A donation of $1000 to be used for equipment in the blind occupational therapy shop at Dibble General Hospital was presented yesterday by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, Local 467 of San Francisco.

Mrs. Mabel Leonard, president, presented the gift to Commanding Officer Col. Paul R. Streit.

Peter Keenan, Sons Withdraw Application for Funeral Home

SAN CARLOS—The application for a funeral home to be placed at the corner of Laurel and Brittan Ave. was withdrawn Teusday night by Peter Keenan and Sons when they appeared before the San Carlos Planning Commission, because of the apparent attitude of both the audience and the commission. This came at the end of an hour's heated discussion in the council chambers of the city hall.

Some of the residents of Laurel St. in that vicinity were present with D. S. Bruce as their spokesman. It was pointed out these home owners that they had bought residences in a business district evidently under some misapprehension. Bruce proceeded to give facts and figures on how he considered a funeral establishment would operate, stating there would sometimes be as many as 75 cars there and that activities would often go on all night.

These statements were refuted by Lawrence Keenan, who remained quiet, while rather derisive remarks were aimed at his profession. Seldom, he said, did anyone visit a funeral parlor after 10 p.m. in such a community as this. "It is obvious," he said, "some details of this business cannot sound pleasant but you must remember it is something which concerns everyone." He was convinced, he added, that they would have a home which would not be objectionable to anyone.

It was brought out at the last council meeting that he is a Sequoia High School graduate and had become engaged in this business elsewhere but wished to return near his some under the conviction that people would prefer a local man to an outsider. In his hands he carried a book entitled "Spanish Style Homes," which he had no opportunity to elaborate on.

The planning commission members seemed divided on whether a mortuary should come into town or not, but were in agreement that this particular should be denied because of the attitude of the homeowners, and because the plans submitted last night showed a smaller building, and less ground than the original request did.

Fred Drake, chairman of the commission, called a mortuary "mentally noxious" and said he would only favor one in the town if it were constructed on El Camino Real. R. J. Scott added "We all know we are going to pass away but we don't want it stuck in our noses."

J. Hugh Martin and Councilman Truman S. Waterman claimed that eventually a mortuary would be needed in town and that there would always be some objection raised.

Alexander Keenan, attorney, representing the firm, said it had every right to locate there as the place was zoned for business and commented "where is it going to end, this question of what is a legitimate business."

He asked for some assurance from the planning commission that if previous recommendations were met they would view the proposition favorably. He was told this matter was considered closed and any further requests would have to stand on their own merits.

Have you tried these bread winners?

Variety is the spice of any meal . . . and bread lends itself admirably to "dressing up" a menu. Toasts, for instance, may be crisp, dry appetizers, or sweet enough to serve as desserts. Dumplings and puddings with a bread base are standbys for all good cooks. Add these to your repertoire of recipes.

MELBA TOAST

Cut dry bread slices into triangles or strips and arrange on baking sheet; place in slow oven (300° to 325° F.) for about 20 minutes or until evenly brown and crisp. Turn several times.

SWEET TOASTS

Toast slices bread on one side; spread untoasted side with toast topping, cut in strips and place under broiler until mixture bubbles. Each mix sufficient for 6 slices bread.

Cinnamon Toast—Combine ¼ cup sugar, ¾ teaspoon cinnamon, 1½ teaspoons flour and cut in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Orange Toast—Combine ¼ cup sugar, 1½ teaspoons orange juice, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind. Toast may be buttered immediately before spreading on mixture.

Butterscotch Toast—Cut 2 tablespoons butter or margarine into ¼ cup brown sugar.

Honey-Cinnamon Toast—Butter toast; spread with honey and sprinkle lightly with cinnamon.

BREAD CRUMB DUMPLINGS

Sift and measure 1 cup all-purpose flour; sift again with 3 teaspoons baking powder and 1 teaspoon salt. Add 1 cup dry bread crumbs. Cut in 2 tablespoons shortening; add 1 well-beaten egg, ¾ cup milk and 1 tablespoon grated onion. Mix carefully and drop on gently boiling stew or gravy. Cover tightly and steam 20 minutes without removing cover. Makes 12 dumplings.

BUTTERSCOTCH BREAD PUDDING

4 slices bread
⅓ cup peanut butter
⅓ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 tbsp. melted butter or margarine
4 cups milk
3 eggs
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla

Spread bread with peanut butter; place in well-greased baking dish. Combine sugar and butter or margarine in saucepan and cook over low heat about 5 minutes. Add milk and bring to boil. Beat eggs well; add salt and vanilla; add liquid slowly. Pour over bread slices. Bake in pan of hot water in moderate oven (350° F.) for 45 minutes or until custard is set. Serves 6.
